MEDICAL SCHOOL GOES OVER 100%

Juniors Complete All Plans For Big Week Program

NEW SUBSCRIPTIONS NET $1,790

One Student Signs For $200, Another Pledges First Year's Salary As Interne; Return From Other Schools Incomplete

With a total of $1,790 pledged to the Building and Endowment Campaign in the past two weeks, the Medical School again reports a 100 percent subscription, taking first place in the competition among the various colleges. Thirty-nine subscriptions were obtained with an average of $46 for each pledge. The drive was conducted under the leadership of Milton Friedman, Medical School Junior.

Another type of competition was opened recently when Henry James, chairman of the Student Endowment Committee, made the announcement that there will be an individual award for the student personally responsible for the securing of the greatest amount in subscriptions during the present drive.

As was the case last year, when the first campaign was organized, this award will be a silver loving cup to be presented at the Junior Prom, on the 27th of this month. Recognition of personal work in the campaign is expected to give a new stimulus to the enthusiasm of the drive.

The progress of the campaign among the other colleges has been slower than that in Medical School because of the fact that it was carried on entirely off the campus. No soliciting has been done up to this time on University grounds. The plan was that each nonsubscriber and new student should be visited by some member of the committee during the two weeks of intensive campaigning. It is probable, however, that the next week will be designated as a clean-up week, in which soliciting will be carried on in classes and on the campus.

In case of such a measure, students who have already subscribed, either last year or this, will be asked to wear buttons similar to those used last year, or some other designation which will prevent their being approached again.

Ten thousand dollars is the goal for the 1925 student campaign, and $165,000 for the national campaign. With $1,800 already turned in from Medical School, and returns from two weeks of canvassing among the other colleges still to be made, it is probable that much of this sum is already attained.

The Medical School drive, just brought to its successful conclusion, was marked by a quiet and effective enthusiasm, not only among the members of the committee but in the spirit of the student body. Among the class of '70 who have just entered on their first year, many had already subscribed through Arts and Sciences last year. Those who had not pledged to a man.

The largest subscription yet turned in from a student received through the Medics was from Maurice Boron, who pledged $200; Emil S. Bonanno, a Freshman, pledged his first six months' salary as an interne. This was not included in the total of $1,790.

Enthusiasm was started in the Medical School by a mass meeting held in a lecture hall last Tuesday. The speakers were Dr. Joseph H. Roe, professor of chemistry; Dr. Leslie French, who as a student led the successful drive last year; and Milton Friedman, the Medical School chairman of 1925.

Team captains who were responsible in a large measure for the brilliant showing made by the Medics were Walter Stokes, James Stretch, Milton Rabinowitz, William Meloy, Carrol McCoy, and Fred Farrar.

LAW SCHOOL ENROLLMENT SURPASSES LAST YEAR

Enrollment in the George Washington University Law School last week passed the enrollment of the same date last year, in spite of all predictions that the increased requirements imposed upon law students this year would decrease the student body temporarily. According to the announcement last Wednesday, the enrollment had reached a total of 1,050, as compared to 1,049 on the same date the preceding year.

FIRST COLONIAL BALL OPENS JUNIOR WEEK

Gym Being Decorated to Resemble Early Colonial Ballroom For Benefit Dance

MRS. COOLIDGE PATRONESS

Several Representatives of Washington Family Will Be Present At Function

An event in the life of the University which may be felt for the rest of its existence takes place on February twenty-third in the University gymnasium, when the Colonial Ball will hold the center of the social stage. The scene is to be a replica of Mt. Vernon as it was in the days of George Washington. President and Mrs. Lewis are to receive before the doors of America's most historic home.

The gymnasium is to be converted with the aid of scenery, flashlight pictures and colonial decorations into the most generally accepted type of room for the early eighteenth century. The perfect scenery with the powdered wigs, and dainty costumes of the time are expected to form a picture which will be typical of the traditions of this University bearing the name of the Father of His Country.

Many prominent people in Washington society will be present, or will be listed as patrons. Mrs. Calvin Coolidge heads the latter list, and members of the Washington family are among the former. Dr. and Mrs. Richard Washington, Dr. Henry Augustine Latane, Mrs. John Morrison Kerr, Mrs. Eugenia Washington Moncre Brown, Miss Margaret Preston Chew, the Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, Mrs. Eleanor Washington, Mrs. Washington Howard, and Miss Frances Packett will represent the family of the first President. Mrs. Doyle and Mrs. Collier, of the University faculty, are to wear historic costumes which have been handed down through generations. Many of the guests are to represent prominent ancestors in their own families.

Two groups of George Washington students will dance the minuet as one feature of the ball, and a faculty group will also contribute to this event.

RAZZ BERRY TO APPEAR AT JUNIOR RECEPTION

Annual Satirical Sheet Promises To Surpass All Former Efforts At Satire

One grand good-natured razz for everybody in the University is predicted when the Razz Berry, George Washington's one supreme satirical publication, makes its annual appearance at the Junior Reception.

All activities by those in charge of the publication of the Razz Berry have been carried on behind closed doors, but scattering remarks dropped now and then would indicate that somebody is in for some humorous publicity. It has also been indirectly learned that the Razz Berry this year will be fashioned after the general size, style and make-up of one of the Washington dailies.

Embryo journalists who publish the Razz have only one opportunity a year to strut their wares, and with increased enthusiasm each year they undertake to place before the student body a better paper than the year before. This will be the fourth annual appearance of the paper, and more interest than ever before is being manifested by the student body. This year the Razz Berry staff are trying to get out a Razz Berry which will, to a certain extent, meet the demand for a humorous publication.

Prom To Be Held In Ballroom of New Mayflower Hotel On The 27th, Reception and Convocation 23rd, Debate With Syracuse Closes Week

"The Dream Hall" is flooded in glory; the Juniors are anxiously waiting; George Washington is looking forward to the night of the 27th, when University society will force all things to bow before it. Washington's newest hotel, the Mayflower, has been selected by the Junior Prom Committee as the best of the hotels in which to stage the Prom on February 27.

The ballroom in the Mayflower is properly termed "The Dream Hall." Approximately 110 feet in length and 50 feet wide, the hall affords ample space for comfort in dancing. The entire room is colored in old gold, with three mirror chandeliers of cut glass dropped from the ceiling, ferns and palms placed around the room, and an indirect system of lighting that beautifies the hall and gives the effect of a ballroom in a tropical hotel.

The only other decorations to be added to the beautiful ballroom will be the University and Junior Class banners, to be placed at the end of the hall, and the sorority and fraternity pennants draped from the balcony boxes.

INTEREST RUNNING HIGH IN CHERRY TREE CONTEST

Ballot Boxes Close Saturday—Results Of Election To Be Kept Secret

The outcome of the Cherry Tree's popularity contest promises to be interesting if activity around the ballot boxes, which have been open about a week, can be taken as an indication. The boxes will remain in place, unopened, until February 20, when they will be opened and a count made. The result of the contest will remain secret until the publication of the Cherry Tree.

The editors are particularly anxious that every student vote, and for that reason have placed another ballot on the last page of the Hatchet for those who failed to clip one from the last issue. Ballot boxes are located in Corcoran Hall, in the main corridor of the Law School, and in the dean's office of the Medical School.

Within a few days Seniors will be given Senior Data Cards to fill out, which data will accompany their pictures. The editor has appointed Isabella Brown to take charge of this work, and it is hoped that members of the Senior Class will be prompt in turning in these cards.

The cover design for the annual has been selected by the editor after much thought. It will be made up in dark brown and old gold, and those who are to have their name printed on the cover will have a most attractive book.

The Cherry Tree staff will meet in Room 27, Lisner Hall, Wednesday, February 18. The art editor will be on hand to receive completed art work and to give out the few remaining assignments. Other heads of departments should be on hand to submit full reports on this work.

CENTRAL CLUB PLANS HOP AS FIRST SOCIAL EVENT

The newly organized Central High School Club will give its first social function on the eighteenth of February when the Club, its friends from Central and friendly enemies from the rival high schools will dance to the strains of the Lambskin Jazz Band. Corcoran Hall is to be the scene of festivities from nine to twelve o'clock. Tickets will be on sale and may be secured from members of the Club for one dollar.

The music engaged for the occasion is well known to those Washingtonians with Masonic affiliations. The Lambskin Jazz Band has been the principal attraction at many functions both of the Masonic Order and of other Washington organizations.

tion was made the triangle seemed to be the most desirable. Christening the new Register which will be kept as a record of the members was a feature of the last meeting. Those members, both charter members and new members, who have not signed the Register are requested to get in touch with Edith Finney as soon as possible and do so.

Meyer Davis, Washington's foremost musician, will furnish the orchestra from 10 p. m. until midnight, when the Le Paradis musicians will take their place and play until 2 a. m.

From all reports, it is to be the greatest social function of the year.

The favors chosen by the committee are a combination program and hand purse for the girls, with the University seal and the Junior Class emblem engraved in gold on the cover.

In order to afford entertainment during the intermission and shorten the tedious waiting for more music, Lew Wallace, chairman of the Prom Committee, has secured the services of several of Washington's professional dancers to present a few interpretative dances. The intermission entertainment is an addition to the usual program of a Junior Prom and should be favored by those in attendance.

Tickets for the 27th are now on sale and may be obtained from the offices or from members of the committees for $5. The price of admission this year has been materially reduced by the Juniors, and yet the very best hall, music, favors and entertainment have been secured by them to make the event favorable in every way.

Preceding the Junior Prom, to be staged as a colorful finale for Junior Week, will come the Rotating Tea, on February 22; Convocation and Junior Reception on the 23rd, and a debate with Syracuse on the 28th.

The Rotating Tea, on the 22nd, will be held between the different fraternity houses associated with George Washington. Every student in the University is urged to take part and those attending are guaranteed an exceptionally fine 10-course luncheon.

Owing to Washington's Birthday falling on Sunday this year, the Junior Reception was postponed until the 23rd. Instead of holding the reception at a hotel as is customary, this year the committee, headed by Miss Ruth Williams, has announced that it will be staged at the University Chapel in Corcoran Hall. President and Mrs. Lewis, deans of the different colleges, and John B. Lerner, chairman of the Board of Trustees, will receive the Junior Class and their friends. The hall will be decorated by Blackstone's florist establishment. Music will be furnished by Happy Walker's Orchestra. Dancing will follow the reception.

Dr. Michael I. Pupin of Columbia University, President of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, will deliver the address at the midwinter convocation of George Washington University, on Monday, February twenty-third. The exercises will be held in Memorial Continental Hall, at which time about seventy students in all departments will receive degrees.

Dr. Pupin is one of the most prominent scientists in the country. His autobiography, "From Immigrant to Inventor," won the Pulitzer prize last year for the best biography of the year.

THE JUNIOR PROM

The Juniors are out for a good time again! Never a year goes by, never a February draws nigh, that the University does not look forward to the program the Junior Class has to offer in way of entertainment.

Not to disappoint this year the Juniors have offered a calendar of events unprecedented in the history of our University that leads us to believe many entertaining things will happen between the 22nd and the 27th of February.

The old order must not change in some respects, however, and the Juniors must have their Prom. The day of all days, the night of dancing, when society sidesteps all other things and can be appealed to only through the melodies of a piano and the syncopating blare of a saxophone.

"Retrieve your saffron fan and come with me—
They're dancing now . . ."

And so they are off to the Mayflower, the Dream Room, glorious music and favorable entertainment. Never a night like this. Never one to come; never one has passed. The glorious customs that have made Junior Promenades historical events in the life of all Universities is to be marveled over. It has done more to create spirit, more to create lasting friendships, and more toward making University thoughts favorable to the minds of old grads than any other social event of the student's year.

It is the playtime for students. They are full of the spirit of the coming event and are anxiously waiting for its advent. Saddened by the passing of that gala event, they plead these thoughts:

"Stab me with laughter as I turn to go . . .
I am the Devil, and I say good-night!"

DRAMATIC SUCCESS

Dramatics was firmly placed among the activities of the University the other night when the George Washington University Dramatic Association was organized.

Hard has been the path for the followers of the drama. Never before has it been recognized as an activity in the University to which money should be allotted in order to promote its principles. Now it is placed upon the same footing as other recognized activities and receives financial support from the student funds. It may now be expected to see our University offer plays to the public that will draw the attention of many critics of Washington and other larger cities.

Wonder who thinks she is good enough to be No. 7

In the days when financial aid was only a hope, the students forming dramatic organizations were only able to present small plays and were forced to finance their own productions. They gave up many things to make their productions successful and draw favorable criticism from University officials with the hope of thus gaining recognition.

When advice was needed they were forced to appeal to faculty members who were interested in small theatrical productions, and through the help and encouragement of these men were the organizations able at last to demand more attention.

University theatrical productions are to be favored. One organization drew the attention of a young theatrical critic on a Washington paper, Leonard Hall, who for the past three years has coached and directed the young actors and has succeeded in producing many commendable plays. Not associated in any way with the University, he has shown a great interest in seeing that the inexperienced actors have been properly coached before presenting their sketches. He has coached the students for two of G. W. Junior plays, and again this year is taking a great interest in the presentation of "Tea for Three." It has been his interest and work that has gone a long way toward getting dramatics recognized at George Washington.

And now that they are recognized, the four producing clubs forming the association will each take a certain phase of theatrical productions and master its technique.

The Mimes and the Players have been long established organizations in the University. It has been their combined efforts, by hard work and persistent appeals, together with the assistance of those that coached them, that has created so much interest among the student body in dramatics.

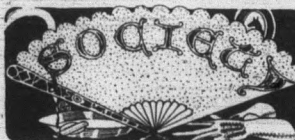

Today the Dramatic Association of George Washington University is composed of four producing clubs, the Mimes, Players, Troubadors, and Dionysians.

Tomorrow our University will be known over this entire United States for the excellent theatrical productions presented by this newly created association.

The creative period is over. The days for building are here, and such encouragement as the student body can give the youthful actors should be tendered.

COLONIAL BALL NOTICE

Any girls who have free time this week who would be willing to contribute some of it to insure the success of the Colonial Ball please report to Miss Evans or Prof. Crandall.

One of the most attractive dances of the season was staged at Corcoran Hall February 7, by the members of the Cercle Gallia, a popular French Club composed of a group of University students and honorary members interested in French literature, art and customs.

Great plans were laid and carried out to perfection by the committee composed of Miss Antoinette Grippo, Miss Daugherty and Professor Beneau, thus making the dance a most successful event. The hall was beautifully decorated in arch effects of crepe paper, color scheme being blue and gold. The lights draped in gold cast a mellow glow over the hall, adding greatly to the attractiveness. Music was furnished by Luber's Orchestra and with the first strains from their Jazz Instruments the dancers glided forth lost in the realms of the aesthetic. This was the first social dance of the season given by the Cercle Gallia. The proceeds derived from the dance are to be for the benefit of the Lafayette Alcove. There were a number of distinguished French guests present among whom were Paul Grippo, the Naval Attache of the French Embassy, and General Dumont, the French Military Attache to the United States.

Miss Dorothea Stephens was the guest of honor at a Luncheon-Bridge, given by Miss Helen Wallace at her home on February 7th. Among her guests were many members and alumnae of the University, including Mesdames Lilla Warren Spanogle, Beatrice Henning Shaw, Misses Frances and Hazel Davis, Dorothy Lewis, Ted Seibold, Mary Cramer, Louise Smith, Lydia Shepard and Syne Smith.

About seventy couples took advantage of the invitation extended by Delta Zeta Sorority to attend their subscription dance, which was held in the Gymnasium on Wednesday night, from ten until one. Five pieces of the Sangame Band furnished excellent music, and the dance which was informal, was a great success. The chaperones for the evening included Prof. and Mrs. Lapham, Prof. and Mrs. Ames and Dean Hugh Miller.

On Thursday night, February 12th, Miss Isabel Heisler was hostess at an informal Bridge party at her home. Three tables were employed for the game, following which a late supper was served.

Mrs. Vesta Lockwood Watson, the National Treasurer of the Chi Omega Fraternity, shared guest honors with Professors Dole and Deibert, of the Language Department, at a luncheon given by the Fraternity in the Chapter rooms on Friday, February 13.

Zeta Tau Alpha entertained at a studio-tea on Sunday, February 8th, at 1115 I Street. The studio which is the property of Commander Lewis P. Clephane, formed a most delightful scene with Mrs. Clephane pouring and with many alumnae as guests of the Sorority.

The Kappa Sigma Fraternity entertained on Friday evening, February 13th, at an informal dance at the Chapter House, 1803 19th Street. Despite the date of "Friday the 13th" a large number of guests were in attendance and the dance was an unusual success.

Corcoran Hall was the scene of a most delightful party on Thursday evening, February 12th, when the members of the Faculty of the Law School entertained at an informal dance in honor of the members of the Senior Class of that college.

On Sunday afternoon, February 15th, the pledges of the Chi Omega Fraternity entertained at a Valentine Tea from four to six in the Chapter Rooms, having as their guests the pledges of the other sororities in the Local Panhellenic Council. Decorations appropriate to the occasion were employed and Mrs. Henry Gratten Doyle, Mrs. Nell Gravalty, and Miss Dorothy Lewis presided at the tea table.

Alpha Delta Pi Sorority entertained a large number of guests at an informal dance on Friday night, February 13th, at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon House on 16th Street.

Students wishing to hire costumes for the Colonial Ball at a reasonable rate may make arrangements for them by applying to Room 82, the Mayflower Hotel.

Washington Alumnae Association of Phi Mu will hold its annual card party for the benefit of the Phi Nu National Philanthropy, a Healthmobile which travels through the mountain districts of Georgia, at the Washington Club, on Tuesday evening, February 17.

Dr. Alfred M. Zitano, of this city, was the principal speaker at a banquet given by Lambda Phi Mu medical fraternity last Tuesday. The banquet was held at a local restaurant and was well attended by members and friends. The pledges, special guests of the evening, include Charles Carlino, David Impostato, Thomas Rossano and Anthony Profita of the first year class.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB GIVES CONCERT AT MT. ALTO

Under the capable direction of Robert W. Harmon, the Men's Glee Club appeared for the third time this season, on a local stage, giving a concert at Mt. Alto Hospital last Thursday evening. The program of Club songs was pleasingly varied with catchy ditties and rousing melodies besides a contagious G. W. school song.

In addition to these, the Double Quartet rendered several harmonious selections. Ben Cain, Jr.'s exceptional ability on the banjo and Wilmer T. Bartholomew's brilliant playing at the piano also considerably enhanced the entertainment. The University Jazz Band, which usually accompanies the Club, was well represented by nine pieces under Furr's temporary leadership. Many popular pieces were given.

Previous to the concert the picture of the Club in formal dress was taken. This picture will appear in the Cherry Tree, and will also be seen around the various schools shortly with posters announcing the coming concerts.

Besides Mt. Alto, the Club has appeared at St. Elizabeth's Hospital and Walter Reid Hospital. Thursday the Club will leave the city and journey to Kensington when it will give the concert feature of a concert and dance program.

GERMAN CLUB MEETS

Der Deutsche Verein was entertained Friday night by Dr. and Mrs. Herman Schoenfeld at their home in Cleveland Park. After a social hour during which refreshments were served plans were discussed to establish a German corner in the Library and to give a German supper for the University at large during the spring.

SENIOR PRESIDENTS!

The Senior Class presidents will meet Tuesday evening, February 17, in Room 27 of Lisner Hall, 2023 G Street, to outline plans for Senior Week, to be observed at the end of the school year.

GIRL MARKSMEN TO START PRACTICE ON NEW RANGE

Two Matches Listed For This Week; Girls Take Trip Next Week

Girl marksmen are urged to come out for the rifle practice at the new range in the basement of Corcoran Hall which has just been opened, in order to get new material for the numerous contests scheduled by the Girls Rifle Team.

A class of instruction was held last Thursday for which quite a number of girls turned out. The members of the team shoot every day, but those trying to make the team may practice every Wednesday from one until four and Thursday from one until four-thirty.

Arrangements have been made for competitions with teams of several different colleges; two matches, one with Cornell, and one with St. Anne's Diocesan College, being scheduled for this week. Eight girls will participate in each, the five highest scores to be counted.

Next week seven girls will journey to Quaker City to match their skill with the girls of Drexel College, and on March 28 a triangular match between Drexel College, the University of Maryland, and the G. W. team, will be shot on the range at Corcoran Hall.

THIRTEENTH VICTIM

Washington College Takes Measure of Buff and Blue in Fast Game, 23-14

ZOLLAR CAGES FIRST ONE

Until Last Few Minutes Coach Daily's Men Kept Within Few Points of Visitors

Battling in a vain effort to halt the conquering hosts of Washington College, the Buff and Blue courtmen dropped a 23 to 14 battle to the Maroon and Black last Tuesday night in the school gymnasium. It was the thirteenth straight win for the Chestertown team. Eight hundred frantic spectators watched the breathless battle between the two quintets.

Fresh from a 28 to 16 win over the University of Maryland, giving them the championship of the state of Maryland, the Chestertown team was nevertheless forced to fight for every point, and only toward the end of the two playing periods were they able to overcome the strong Hatchet defense. A number of long shots skillfully netted gave them their margin of victory.

"Horse" Zollar, playing an unusually fast and hard floor game, and Paul Bowen, leading Hatchet point scorer, bore the brunt of the attack of Coach Daily's men. Captain "Mike" Dowd and "Muscles" Sawyer hung to the Maroon forwards grimly and saved many baskets.

Fiore, right guard, led the attack of the Eastern Shore team, and gained the high score of the evening with four floor goals and one free toss to his credit. Carroll, Dumschott, and McGran each counted twice from the floor. The Maroon team was unusually adept at breaking out a "snow-bird" for an easy toss, and Fiore was usually found under the basket on this combination.

After the tap-off the oval constantly passed from one team to the other, more than eight minutes of intense playing being required before a score was made. Zollar broke the ice with a shot that teased around the rim for several heart-breaking seconds before it dropped through. Three minutes later Fiore tied the score, taking the ball on an out-of-bounds play and counting from under the hoop. Dumschott then scored from near the center of the court and gave the visitors their lead. McGran was next to score, and he was followed by Bowen who netted another teaser.

The Buff and Blue team was having a great deal of difficulty in caging their shots, many that seemed certain pointers rolling around the hoop and dropping on the wrong side. The Maroon team counted twice more from the floor before the whistle and were leading at the half, 11 to 5.

Striving desperately to overcome a six-point lead, the Hatchetmen started the second half in whirlwind fashion. Dowd caged a free toss to start the scoring, and Bowen proceeded to electrify the throng by dropping in two hair-raising shots in rapid order. With their lead reduced to one point the Chestertown team braced and baskets by Carroll, Fiore, and Dumschott gave them a commanding lead. The visitors froze the ball during the last part of the game, playing for time, and a basket each by Dowd and Zollar were the only additional scores for the Buff and Blue.

The Elliot, Jrs., defeated the fast Live Wire five, 24-20 in the preliminary contest.

Entertainment and lodging were furnished the Washington College team by campus fraternities.

BUFF AND BLUE TAKE FIRST RIFLE MATCH

Defeat Pittsburgh By 29 Points In First Telegraphic Match Of The Season

A telegram from Pittsburgh Saturday night, heralding a victory for the Buff and Blue gunmen in their first match of the season, caused Coach Stokes and Manager Detweiler to heave a deep sigh of relief. Pittsburgh has been an enigma in shooting circles this year, reputed to be the victor in every meet prior to its match with George Washington University; but now that the spook has been laid, the veteran G. W. riflemen have renewed their efforts in the martial art of shooting with renewed confidence and vigor.

The honors of the first match go to Newcomb, who made a score of 387 out of a possible 400; "Davy" Crockett came next with 387; Riley and Everett tied for third place with 385; and Parsons followed with 377. The team average was 381, and the total sum of points 1,904. The score from Pittsburgh fell 29 points below this, being but 1,875. The five highest scores from each team were selected.

The match with Carnegie Tech is already under way, with Baxter Smith again shooting the first string. Smith was not among the highest in the first shoot, but his score of 381 equals the team average for the former. Parsons has also bettered his score, having made 379 for the complete course. Everett has shot his first course, making a possible from a prone position. This is an unusual beginning, better in fact than the first, and G. W. has every reason to expect additional laurels to deck the heads of the men who have brought to this institution championship honors in at least one field of sport.

NAVAL ACADEMY TANKMEN
DEFEAT HATCHET SWIMMERS

George Washington University men's swimming team was overwhelmingly defeated by the Naval Academy mermen Saturday afternoon in the Navy tank, 53-9. The Hatchetmen were forced to be content with third place in every event with the exception of the fancy diving.

In the dive, Newby of G. W. was nosed out of first by Cooper, Navy, while Lyman, G. W. captain, took third. Stansfield, the Downtowners' most consistent point maker, was unable to contribute points, as no plunge is held under intercollegiate rules.

Saturday the Hatchet tankmen meet the Baltimore Athletic Club, three times South Atlantic A. A. U. champions, at Baltimore.

PHI ALPHA PRESENTS
BASKETBALL SCORE BOARD

Phi Alpha fraternity recently presented the University gymnasium with a running score-board for basketball games, and christened it during the game with Washington College last Tuesday night. The board, besides showing a running score of the game, gives the score quarter by quarter. It should prove a valuable addition to the gymnasium.

HATCHET CAGEMEN
DEFEAT HOPKINS

Coming From Behind, Buff And Blue Win Fast Contest, 32 To 31

HOPKINS LEADS AT HALF

Bowen Out Of Game—Baskets By Dowd And Brown Turn The Trick

In the final minutes of play, the Buff and Blue tossers overcame the formidable lead of the Johns Hopkins Medical School basketball team to nose out the Blue Jays, 32 to 31, on the home court, Saturday night, in one of the closest games of the season. About 200 spectators saw the George Washington boys come from behind and defeat the Hopkins boys, baskets by Dowd and Brown giving them the margin.

Coach Daily sent in his second-string men to start the game, but they were no match for the visitors, and after a few minutes fast play, with the score 10 to 5 in favor of Hopkins, the reserves were withdrawn. Although Bowen, George Washington's speedy forward, was out of the line-up, the regulars played a fast game, and a few minutes before the half tied the score, but a long shot by Wirkenwerter brought the Jays to the front again, and the score at half was 18-16.

Wirkenwerter starred for the visitors, his snappy passing and spectacular shots in the first half giving Hopkins the lead, and he led the defense which held the Buff and Blue in the rear until the last four minutes of play.

Zollar and Sawyer played the defense and stopped many of Hopkins' passes, while Captain Bowd, Brown and Marshall led the attack for Daily's hoophmen and overcame the 7-point lead which the Blue Jays had acquired in the second half after a spirited attack. Hopkins held the lead up until the last minutes, but two field goals by Dowd tied the score, and a foul by Brown brought G. W. to the front, only to be left behind again when Stewart scored a long one. But another two-pointed by Dowd gave the Buff and Blue the lead, which they held to the end. The line-up:

Woerner	R. F.	Stewart
Macdonald	L. F.	Wirkenwerter
Nichols	Center	Hurd
Nevasier	R. G.	Duckett
Johnson	L. G.	McLean

Field goals: Dowd (4), Wirkenwerter (6), Brown (4), Hurd (4), Stewart (3), Woerner, Marshall, Zollar, Johnson, Price. Foul goals: Woerner, 1 in 2; Brown, 2 in 6; Marshall, 1 in 1; Zollar, 0 in 2; Dowd, 1 in 4; Sawyer, 3 in 6; Stewart, 2 in 4; Wirkenwerter, 1 in 3; Hurd, 0 in 1; McLean, 0 in 2. Substitutions: George Washington—Bowen for Woerner, Marshall for Macdonald, Zollar for Nichols, Dowd for Nevasier, Sawyer for Johnson; Johns Hopkins, Carpenter for Stewart, Price for Duckett, Duckett for McLean, Stewart for Carpenter, McLean for Price. Referee: Mr. Metzler. Umpire: Mr. Haas. Time of halves: 20 minutes.

TRACKMEN PRACTICING ON INDOOR TRACK IN GYM

Knights of the cinder path gathered last night in Corcoran Hall at the first track meeting of the season. Practice will be started tonight under the leadership of Tom Frobey, coach, and Gilbert Ludwig, manager.

Coach Frobey considers the team to be getting a good start, despite the handicap in not having the portable track in the gymnasium available before this time, and with such men as Bill Simmons, captain; Malone, 100 yard man; Tolson, Grass, Harmon and John Loehler, quarter milers, he can see nothing in sight but a winning team.

The one factor as yet wanting is a corps of good assistant managers—men with the punch and personality to help keep things moving, according to manager Ludwig, and he urges all men in the University who do not run but who have an interest in this sport and the time to give to it to get in touch with him, or coach Frobey or Hillary Tolson.

GIRLS' RIFLE TEAM
TAKES DELAWARE MATCH

With an exceptionally high score to their credit, the George Washington Girls' Rifle Team took their match with the University of Delaware last week, when the latter team failed to forward their score for the scheduled match.

Eight girls shot in the matches, the five high scores being counted. Of the eight who shot for George Washington, Elizabeth Owen took individual honors with a perfect score.

The results follow:
Elizabeth Owen	100
Kay Edmonston	99
E. Barroll	99
E. Kilpatrick	99
S. Waldman	98

HOUR GLASS TO MEET

The Hour Glass, women's Senior honor society, will meet Thursday evening, February 19, in Room 28 of Lisner Hall. All members are especially urged to be present.

CENTRAL HIGH WINS
SCHOLASTIC COURT TITLE

Tech. Five Takes Measure of Easterners in Second Surprise of Season

Clearly demonstrating their superiority over the Western High five while Tech was taking the measure of the over-confident Eastern team, the Central High School quintet won the high school court tournament last Tuesday afternoon by defeating Western 24 to 13 in the final game of the series.

The score does not show how clearly the Western team was outplayed, the Blue and White five drawing steadily ahead in the third quarter, and maintained their lead with ease during the remainder of the contest.

Tech, led by the lightning attack of Councilor, their flashy forward, sprang their second surprise attack of the loop by defeating the over-confident Eastern team 20 to 18. Croson, rangy center for the Manual Trainers, was very successful at keeping the Capitol Hill boys at bay.

The final standing of the high school teams follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Central	6	2	.750
Eastern	5	3	.625
Western	5	3	.625
Tech	3	5	.375
Business	1	7	.125

SENTIMENT SOUNDED FOR FRATERNITY ROW

Questionnaires Submitted to Fraternal Organizations to Secure Data to Aid Trustees

Visions of our quadrangle of completed buildings flanked by "Fraternity Row" are already floating through the imaginations of those animated by G. W. spirit.

With an idea toward feeling out the attitude of the several Fraternities and Sororities in this matter, the President's Council has appointed a committee of which Professor Croissant is chairman. This committee has written to all the organizations likely to be interested. Communications in reply have already been received from Sigma Nu and Acacia fraternities, and Alpha Delta Phi, Phi Mu, and Phi Sigma sororities. The general attitude so far has been favorable.

The advantage of having fraternities located in the vicinity of the university are obvious. The plan has proved successful and desirable in the case of many other schools.

At present Professor Croissant's committee is sounding the sentiment which will determine the attitude toward the future treatment of the matter at G. W. That done, the important question of ways and means will be in the hands of the Board of Trustees.

DATE ANNOUNCED FOR DAVIS PRIZE SPEAKING

All Seniors in Arts Department Eligible to Compete in Contest for Prizes

The Davis Prize Speaking Contest has been announced for Tuesday, April 21. All senior candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts in the Department of Arts and Sciences are eligible to compete. Those wishing to take part in this event should submit their names and subjects to Professor Croissant, Building 6, Room 37, not later than March 24. The typewritten orations must be in by April 3.

Any subject may be chosen, but delivery time must not exceed ten minutes. The judges of the contest are to be appointed by the English Department. They will consider the speeches from the standpoints of literary excellence and delivery, giving equal weight to each.

This contest has been an interesting event of the school year since the early days. The Davis Prizes were founded in Columbia College by Honorable Isaac Davis of Massachusetts in 1847. The original endowment was five hundred dollars, "proceeds of which will afford three premiums, in cash or gold medals, of the value of five dollars, of ten dollars, and of fifteen dollars annually—these premiums, or prizes, to be distributed annually to such members of the Senior Class as shall have made the greatest progress in elocution since their connection with the college."

The orations submitted are first read separately by each judge and are marked for content and quality of composition, this mark constituting 50 percent of the final rating.

At the time of the contest proper, they are again graded by each judge for effectiveness of delivery. After the contest the judges in conference determine upon the award of the prizes, and this award is announced at the conclusion of the exercises.

In the past years the contest has been marked by variety of subject matter and liveliness of competition. It is hoped that the Senior Class of 1925 will distinguish itself in an even greater manner.

EPISCOPAL CLUB PLANS CONVENTION DELEGATE

A joint business meeting and informal reception for the newly appointed chaplain, the Reverend Arlington A. McCullum, was held by the Episcopal Club last Wednesday evening. The most interesting part of the business end of the meeting was the discussion of the plan to send two delegates to a convention to be held in Baltimore the latter part of the month. These delegates will be selected at the next meeting of the club.

Dr. McCullum gave a very spirited and humorous talk in which he said that he felt his position was similar to that of a chaplain or the senior chaplain in the Navy; in other words, he is to have "one blind eye and one deaf ear."

The club is planning for interesting talks suitable for the Lenten season. It is also looking forward to varied social activities in the near future.

JUNIORS MAKE PLANS FOR BIG WEEK PROGRAM

place on Sunday afternoon, February twenty-second, in Corcoran Hall. Dr. George B. Stewart, President of the Auburn Theological Seminary of Auburn, N. Y., will preach the sermon.

"Resolved, That Congress Shall Have the Power by a Two-thirds Vote To Declare Effective (Operative) a Law Previously Declared Unconstitutional by the United States Supreme Court," will be the subject for debate between George Washington and Syracuse University on February 26. The Juniors this year have side-stepped the usual calendar of events for Junior Week and have on their own initiative calendared others that are novel and will prove extremely interesting and entertaining.

DRAMATIC CLUBS FORM ASSOCIATION

Mimes, Players, Troubadours And Dionysians Organize To Promote Dramatic Activities

MEETING ATTENDED BY 150

Officers Elected, Constitution Adopted and Permanent Organization Effected

Approximately one hundred and fifty students assembled in the chapel of Corcoran Hall last Wednesday evening for the founding of the George Washington University Dramatic Association. After talks by President Lewis and Professors Bolwell and Croissant, a proposed constitution was read and adopted, and officers were elected.

Opening the meeting by bringing home the fact that non-organization was in a great degree responsible for the lack of recognition in the past, Professor Bolwell, the temporary chairman of the meeting, stated that the present assemblage was an unorganized mob, soon to become members of the newly created Dramatic Association, an organization dedicated to firmly establishing dramatics as an activity in the university.

"The members of the mob," as Professor Croissant addressed them, were entertained by his reminiscences of dramatics at G. W. in the past. Back in the time when the university was located where the Woodward Building now stands, at 15th and H Streets, with neither campus nor chapel, and the students played tag on the street car tracks, he asserted that plays were produced with which none of the productions of today could compare.

"Appeal to the intelligence of your audience," he said, "and they will become so interested in the acting that the lack of equipment will be forgotten." Many interesting events in the past life of university dramatics were brought to light by Professor Croissant, who in those days was faculty advisor for the young actors.

President Lewis in speaking of the future of dramatics expressed a wish that an organization would be developed so effective that the name of the university would be recognized the country over for its excellence in theatrical productions.

The four "producing clubs," as they will be called in the future, composing the association are the Mimes, Players, Dionysians and Troubadours.

After the ratification of the constitution officers for the year were elected. The result of the election was: Edward Moulton, president; Evelyn Davis, vice president; Raymond Weber, secretary; and Lonnelle Davison, treasurer.

COLUMBIAN DEBATERS ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Darby Chosen to Succeed Ray Crowell; Officers Elected to Fill Other Positions

Roi T. Darby was the unanimous choice of the Columbian Debating Society at its first meeting of the new semester Friday evening to succeed Ray C. Crowell as president. There were no other nominees for the position.

For the office of vice-president, the Society chose V. A. Wallace. The forensic abilities of Francis W. Clements, the popular football star, were recognized and the club rewarded his endeavor by placing him—much against his will—in the office of secretary. Clements was treasurer of the Society the past semester. J. L. Mendelsohn was chosen treasurer and Wroe Alderson, who has gained much attention by his excellent debates in the club and conscientious work for it, was elected critic. Miss M. P. Wetmore was unanimously chosen press representative.

The retiring president, Ray C. Crowell, expressed his thanks and appreciation for the hearty support given him by the members of the Debating Society during the past semester and congratulated them upon their excellent choice of a successor.

Darby, the new president, in turn expressed his appreciation to the members for the honor conferred upon him, and in his typically humorous fashion, pledged his support to the program outlined for him by Alderson in the latter's nominating speech.

When the new officers had assumed charge of the administration, a resolution was promptly passed to present the retiring president with a gavel in token of the Society's appreciation of his leadership during the past semester.

While the subject for discussion has not been announced as yet the Society will hold the regular weekly debate next Friday evening at eight o'clock in the Alumni Room of the Law School.

ball as a possible forerunner of many others which will form a tradition in University history. The plan is that every year on the twenty-second of February, the University will go back in spirit to the time of its first conception, when George Washington and his contemporaries were forming the traditions we honor. On that night, a modern university is to be transformed into a colonial scene, and modern men and women will become colonial gentlemen and ladies. As a tradition for George Washington University, it is believed that nothing could be more suitable and more effective.

INTERFRATERNITY CUPS PRESENTED AT MEETING

Acacia Receives Award For Social Bodies, Phi Delta Phi For Professional Group

Scholarship cups for the highest averages in the social and professional groups of fraternities respectively, and the basketball cup which is awarded annually, were given to their winners at the last meeting of the Interfraternity Council, held at Acacia fraternity house.

Acacia was the receiver of the scholarship cup in the social group, while Phi Delta Phi led the professional fraternities in scholastic achievement. Kappa Sigma, fraternity basketball champions, were presented the cup for that activity.

Phi Delta Phi not only led competition in its own field, but had the highest average of any fraternity in the University, social or professional. Kappa Sigma earned its basketball laurels after a season of fast games which showed a fine brand of basketball, and no mean variety of competition.
